WESTERN MILITARY INSTITUTE,
Drennon Springs. Henry County, Ky.
THIS Institution offers those peculiar advantages, that, with a most thorough literary course, it combines the essential parts of the scientific one of the U.S. Military Academy, while it promotes, by military exercise, that health, physical development and consequent mental vigor which the ordinary system of education tends rather to deatroy. Under its methodical distribution of time, and the habits of punctuality attained by military discipline in a situation remote from the allurements, the vices, and the dissipations usually incident to college life, the student can accomplish more than ordinary results. It affords superior opportunity for the study of MODERN LANGUAGES and the science and practice of ExCINEZAING. Its Academic Staff consists of ten experienced professors. The cadets in attendance are from sixteen different States.

The ANNUAL SESSION commences the second Monday in September, and the SEMI-ANNUAL one the first Monday in February, closing on the third Thursday in June.

TERMS: Tuition, boarding, rooms, furniture, washing, fuel, lights, servants' attendance, field music, use of arms, and surgeon's fee, $165 per annum. Modern Languages and Landscape Drawing are taught at an extra charge of $20 per annum for each. Cadets are received at any time during the session, and charged proportionably for the unexpired part. This establishment possesses many advantages over others in this city, being built expressly for Daguerrean purposes. It contains one of the finest skylights in this country, and best arranged; for which reason artists prefer Daguerreotypes taken at this establishment above all others.
There are now on exhibition some of the largest Daguerreotypes in the world, taken at this establishment, with a large collection of others, free to the public at all hours of the day.

PROSPECTUS FOR "THE GLOBE," THE CONGRESSIONAL NEWSPAPER.
THE APPROACH OF CONGRESS calls for the Trenewal of my proposals and preparations to spread its debates before the public. The success which has hitherto attended this undertaking it is hoped will continue, and enable me to perpetuate the full history of the proceedings and discussions of the body on which the destiny of the Republic depends.

the full history of the proceedings and discussions of the body on which the destiny of the Republic depends.

The adoption of Congress has given the Globe an official character as the reporter of all that is said and done in the body. This sanction has been voted at every successive session for many years, and by members of all parties. The press, too, of all parties, has borne testimony to the fidelity with which the duty thus confided has been performed.

The great celerity with which the letter-writers for the distant press circulate through the telegraph their hurried accounts and views of the debates of Congress, renders more important than ever the full and exact official reports of the Congression AL Globe. The hasty, and in many insiances exparte, relations by telegraph of what occurs in Congress supersede, for the most part, the exact reports taken down by reporters, and which formerly, in a shape more or less abbreviated, weat the rounds of the press. Now the telegraph accounts, with all their imperfections and variety of colorings, take the run of the country, and no press but the official of Congress ever publishes the full debate with the proceedings of both Houses unmutilated. Indeed, no newspaper can give them, and have room for advertisements and the miscellaneous matter essential to their existence. While, therefore, the telegraph administers to the eager appetite of the public for Congress news, and meets the necessities of the political press, by furnishing a rapidly-written epitome suited to the taste of its patrons, perfect information of what passes in Congress is greatly diminished. The circulation of theofficial reports has been, to some extent, cut off by the crude and diversified accounts which, flying along the electric wires, satisfies curiosity, and it is almost in vain that truth puts on his boots to follow. Still there are a great many men of leisure and thought who like to see what is accually said and done in Congress, and to judge for themselves, rather than to receive impress

During the first month or six weeks of a session, there is rarely more business done than will make two numbers a week—one of the Consumstonal.

The next session will be unusually interesting; therefore I calculate that the Cosobbasian Alegas and Appendix together will make at least 3,500 large quarto pages, printed in small type—brevier and nonpareil. Complete Indexes to both will be furnished at the end of a session.

I will endeavor to print a sufficient number of surplus copies to supply all that may be miscarried, or lost in the mails; but subscribers should be very particular to file their papers carefully, for

The Great Invention of the Age!—Steam Supplanted!—Gas Triumphant! THE first half of the nineteenth century will be recorded as the age of steam. It has passed, and with it will pass the steam engine with the

The second half of the century will be known as

The second half of the century will be known as commencing the age of Gas—an agent deatined not only to light but to enterthe world. This age has now commenced, and with it is now introduced the Gas Engine.

Professor John C. F. Salomon, after twenty-six years of close observation upon the experiments of his own and of others in attempts to make the principle of the condensation of carbonic acid gas available as a mechanic motor, has perfected the same; and, having just received letters patent for his dispose of rights for the use thereof to the United States Government, and to individuals or to companies, the rights of States, counties, or cities.

The immense saving of money and labor, and of human lives and suffering, secured by the use of this new motor, will inevitably insure its speedy adoption in all places where steam power is now used, and in thousands of other places where the great expense, bulk, and weight of the steam engine has procluded its use.

This new motor may be applied to all purposes as a propelling agent, from the single-horse power for the cotton-gin to the two thousand horse power for cean steamers, with the expense less than that required by the steam engine, of boilers and furnaces, fuel and firemen, and of bulk and weight—100 tons weight sufficing for the same power of 1,900 tons of the steam engine, of boilers and furnaces, fuel and firemen, and of bulk and weight—100 tons weight sufficing for the same power, now "working weil" at Cincinnati, as noticed in the following from the Cincinnati, As noticed following from the Cincinnati Nonpareitof the 18th instant:

"We are pleased to state that J. C. F. Salomon, late of this city, has received a patent for his motor of carbonic acid gas, in its application to an engine. The successful experiments of this invention were not long since given in the Nonpareit. The same gentleman has received another patent for the steering and propelling power."

Also, rights for the use of his "Improved Propelling and Steering Apparatus," one peculiar advantage of which gives the pilot such complete control of the vessel, independent of the engineer, that he can "right-about-face" a man-of-war in less time than is required to load her guns.

Also, rights for his "Improved Spring Saddle," for military and common purposes, designed for the greatest possible comfort of both horse and rider.

NOTICE.—The general estimation long enjoyed by the Perfumes issuing from the premises of LUBIN, having led to a variety of worthless imitations and counterfeits, notwithstanding the signature affixed to each label accompanying the genuine article, M. FELIX PROT, proprietor of the Establishment LUBIN, has the honor of informing his friends and the public that he has now substituted for his former labels one of a wholly different description, and that he has caused to be manufactured for his envelopes a description of paper presenting, in form of a watermark, the seal of his house.

In order, therefore, to avoid deception, he respectfully begs them to pay special attention to the label appended to such articles as bear the name of his house, and to entrust the execution of their orders only to dealers of respectabilty, or address them directly to his premises, No. 55 Rue Ste.
